Tandoori Dishes

Cooked in tandoori clay oven, with assorted onions, bell peppers.

The heat for a tandoor(clay oven) was traditionally generated by a charcoal fire, burning within the tandoor itself, thus exposing the food to live-fire. Temperatures in a tandoor can approach 480°C (900°F), and it is common for tandoor ovens to remain lit for long periods to maintain the high cooking temperature. The tandoori preparations tend to have a unique “earthy” taste about them.
